SLOVAKS FOND OF U. S. SAILORS

(By Associated Press) VLADIVOSTOK, Oct. 2.—Wounded Czech-Slovaks, victims of the fighting near of Nikol'sk, were the special charges of the officers and men of an American warship prior to the arrival of the American Red Cross contingent from Tokyo. They were attended by the ship's doctor, fed by the ship's steward and waited upon day and night by the big-hearted sailors.

When the need became apparent Admiral Knight ordered a nearby warehouse emptied of its contents and there he improvised a hospital. Several of the more serious cases had to be removed to a marine hospital for special treatment. They begged to return to their cots in the warehouse and to the ministrations of the "jacksies." The efforts of the latter to outdo one another in showing kindness to the wounded men was touching. They gave up their beds and pillows to them.

When the Czechs arrived they were naturally in a filthy and ragged state. The sailors provided them with sheets in which to wrap themselves while they, the sailors, washed their tattered garments. The ship's officers were deeply moved by the devotion of the men and listened good naturedly to obviously manufactured pretexts put forward by the sailors to go ashore and look after their charges.

LAST ISSUE OF THE NET

The last issue of the Net, published under auspices of the Red Cross, appeared today with the explanation that owing to the paper famine it is deemed advisable to suspend.

This action will be relished by the business men who have regarded the publication as a double taxation on their generosity as there was no necessity for an official organ in Tonopah since the newspapers gave freely of their space to meet all requirements in the way of publicity.

VICTOR MINERS CAN 3 OF CREW WHO WOULD NOT BUY A BOND

Liberty bonds and patriotism caused a miniature strike last night at the Victor shaft of the Tonopah Extension mine when some forty men refused to go on shift with three slackers who had refused to come across with a dollar for freedom when the list was circulated during the afternoon. The night shift heard of what had occurred and refused to take risks with a class of men who would stand by and see the sons and brothers of their fellow workers offer themselves for the supreme sacrifice while they stood idly by drawing down their $6 a day.

Jim Snyder, a carpenter, was the first to voice the protest of his loyal companions when he remarked to the cager:

"I don't know if these boys care to go down with men who refuse to buy even a $50 bond. For my part I don't think it is safe."

"It's up to you," said the cager, as he signaled John Gillan, the engineer, to hold up the cage a while longer. "There is too much powder down there for us to have any pro-Germans around, don't you think?" inquired another of the crew. "You bet," echoed another man. "Let's settle here before taking a chance."

"That was all there was to it, but the men refused to go down the hole until the Hun worshippers were given their time. The discussion entailed a loss of about forty minutes but, when the loyal crew got down to business they made up for lost time in a way that convinced the shift boss that there was nothing like having a crew of 100 per cent Americans underground.

The three men who were laid off had no reason for refusing to subscribe as they were regularly employed and pulling down $6 a shift. At least that was what their companions thought of it. One of the men was an alleged American, one an Italian and the other an Austrian.

STATE REGULATION OF FOOD PRICES ORDERED BY GOVERNMENT

As the "opening gun" in the food administration's campaign to curb alleged profiteering in staples, questionnaires covering cost and sale prices on butter, eggs and cheese have been answered by the leading grocers throughout the state. In each case the grocer is asked to itemize the costs laid down at his store, and to show clearly what prices he is charging and the reasons for inordinately high prices, if he is charging them.

"It is necessary," says a statement issued today by the federal food administrator for Nevada, "in commencing the difficult matter of price control, that the subject be approached gradually with all possible information at hand, and without either favor or prejudice. Letters too numerous for individual answer have been received quoting local prices and complaining of inordinate profits; all of these have been considered carefully; yet it is only fair to say that in the majority of cases throughout the state the prices charged have been found justified. In other words, the retail grocer had to contend with cost-increasing conditions for which he was not given credit in the complaint.

"The fixing of staple prices, of course, is most urgently desirable in districts of congested population. Thus, Reno, Ely, Elko, Tonopah, Winnemucca and Las Vegas become district centers with each its peculiar problems of cost, handling, freight, haulage, and delivery. All of these districts are being covered weekly by trained and competent price reporters who ascertain and report variations in selling prices of all ordinary groceries. Thus, we are able to judge at all times whether equitable distribution is being secured, and with the evidence accumulated we shall be able, a little later, to fix and control prices and margins on all foodstuffs coming under the proper supervision of the United States food administration. Ely has been selected as the place most glaringly in need of price adjustment and food administration representatives are now enroute to the copper camp to begin investigations.

"Problems directly affecting Nevada dealers in all food products, including perishables, cold-storage products, staples and all licensed commodities will be taken up as quickly as possible and unfair practices eliminated."

CHANGES IN PHONE OFFICE AT TONOPAH

The Tonopah telephone office will be robbed of many familiar faces in the next few days through the departure of the Misses Mildred and Edith Fottler who will leave about the middle of the month with their mother for Boston, the former home of the family. They will be accompanied by Percy Davidson, trouble man of the company, who was formerly employed by the same company at Goldfield. His place will be taken by Bert Clute, of the Extension electrical force. New faces in the office will be Miss Thelma Scott and Mrs. Della Dobson. Miss Kate Schoen, another of the operators, has transferred to the Western Union where she takes the position of cashier and receiving clerk.

COPPER OPERATOR DIES IN NEW YORK

Clarence Kind received a wire this afternoon announcing the death of Eugene Steindler, at New York City from pneumonia. The death occurred last night. Deceased is a nephew of Mrs. Eliza Kind and was deeply interested in various mining companies in Nevada and Canada. He was born in San Francisco and often visited the Kind home at Eureka, Nev. ## LOWELL DANIELS GIVEN A SEND OFF

Lowell Daniels was sent away with a smile on the faces of a thousand admiring citizens this morning when he took his departure for Camp Pike, Ark., where he enters a training camp to qualify for a commission.

The Musicians' Union band turned out and Tonopah lodge of Elks No. 1862 was represented by every one of the members who could get away from his business. At the depot, Harry Atkinson, past exalted ruler of the lodge, mounted a truck and spoke a few words telling how everybody admired the departing candidate for military honors and how he was respected for his close attention to his official duties during the long time he had been in the court house.

Mr. Daniels responded briefly, three cheers were given, the conductor called "All aboard," and Daniels moved off waving his hat in acknowledgement of the cheers.

MOST BUSINESS LIKE OFFICE IN TONOPAH

If there is one office in the courthouse that is superior to another in the perfection of its system and thorough efficiency it is that of Mrs. Jennie A. Curieux, county auditor and recorder who is just completing her first term and, at the wish of the taxpayers, is the unanimous nominee for reelection. Mrs. Curieux carried to the office a fund of experience and business sagacity which quickly brought order out of chaos in the matter of handling records. The business is indexed and systematized so that any inquiry can be answered with the least possible delay to the inquirer. The statement of a federal agent who had occasion recently to look up certain records is the best testimony that can be cited in favor of retaining Mrs. Curieux and her staff for another term.

"This is the best equipped and most perfectly arranged office in the state of Nevada," was the remark of the visitor after he found certain records dating back forty years on which he thought he would have to spend several days looking up. The time consumed in the operation was exactly 23 minutes.

REMOVED TO THE COAST A message from Reno today stated that Mrs. Anderson had left that city with her daughter, Miss Odella, who formerly taught school at Bellehelen and who suffered from nervous prostration while traveling between here and the coast and was taken off the train at Reno. Her many friends will be pleased to hear that she is rapidly recovering.

FOR LONG TERM COMMISSIONER

William J. Douglass, present county commissioner for the short term, is a candidate for the long term. He should receive the votes of every American citizen in camp as his long experience and manifold interests in the county qualify him for the position he seeks. He is in a position to know the requirements of the county as he is personally acquainted with every mile of the area rendering taxes to the Nye county administration.

AMUSEMENTS

THE GREAT NAZIMOVA AT THE BUTLER THEATER

In "Toys of Fate," starring the great Nazimova, which will be shown at the Butler today, the wonderful Russian star, has been declared to have surpassed her marvelous work in her previous super picture, "Revelation," which was seen here at the Butler a few weeks ago. That picture was called by the New York critics to be "the perfect photo play," and Nazimova was said to be the greatest motion picture star in the world—alone in her class. In this production the great star portrays the role of a gypsy princess, with the fiery, untrammelled nature of that picturesque race.

At the matinee today, just the picture program will be shown, the admission being 11, 15 and 20c.

In the evening there will be just one show, starting at 7:30 and lasting two and one-half hours. The picture program—Nazimova, in "Toys of Fate," will be shown, after which five big-time vaudeville acts will be presented by the Gladstone-Chandler road show, the first of its kind that has visited Tonopah in a long, long time. Every artist in the company has been over either the Orpheum or Pantages circuit, and you will see singing, dancing, musical, acrobatic acts put on by pretty girls in regular "big-town" style. Either the picture or the big vaudeville show is alone worth the price of admission. You will see both if you are here this evening at 7:30. General admission, lower floor, 50c; children, 25c; balcony, 25c.

This is a show worth while. Come early and stay late. Tomorrow, Alice Brady, in "Woman and Wife," in conjunction with the Gladstone-Chandler road show company, in an entire change of program.

CALIFORNIA CASUALTY (By Associated Press) OTTAWA, Oct. 2.—J. T. Foster, of Eureka, Cal., is listed ill in the Canadian casualty list.

BARBED WIRE BOUNDARY LINE

(By Associated Press) NOGALES, ARIZ., Oct. 2.—A barbed wire fence which is to protect the Mexican border from smugglers is to be built. Both General Plutarco Elias Calles and Brigadier General DeRosey C. Cabell have obtained the approval of their governments for this project.

The fence will be erected between Douglas and Agua Prieta Naco, Ariz., and Naco, Sonora and Nogales, Ariz., and Sonora. The wires will be strung six inches apart, will be high enough to prevent anyone from climbing the fence and guards also will be stationed on the American and Mexican sides of the fence. This will limit the passage between the two countries to one gate at each port and, in this way, the two governments will be able to control the traffic.

The fence was proposed by General Cabell at the time of the Nogales shooting affair and approved by General Calles at a conference held on the line here.
